With every day that I arise I'm inspired to believe that this very message will arrive as a sign. Even though it may seem that I have given up, I push with every bit of strength to stay the course and pray not for day to day blessings but second to second blessings. I know that relief is coming and soon the healing will begin because I recognize that my eyes still see light, my heart still pumps and although it may seem that I don't express love as "normal people" do; I do love you and I know you love me to.

Whatever you are going through, you can make it. Do not put yourself down. Do not count yourself out the game. Do not dump your anger on others or play the blame game. Do not shut down, withdraw and isolate yourself. Help is on the way. Cancel the pity party. Get up! Shake off the stress, doubt and worry. Focus on solutions. Pray for discernment, courage and wisdom. Analyze your options. Make a decision. Take action and move forward one step at a time. You will have a great testimony of your faith, endurance and creative problem solving skills. You will come through this stronger and wiser.

The word of God says in Isaiah 43, "I will make a road in the wilderness and rivers in the desert."

A new road is being built for you to walk on. Where there was once a desert and despair, you will see rivers of abundance, love and success. Get up and stand strong on His promises. Get ready for a breakthrough.

A new season is here.

If you've been lost...you will be found.

Something great is about to happen!

I can't wait to hear about it!

It's going to happen from the most unexpected person or place.

So keep your ears, eyes, mind and heart open.

And when it happens, don't say, "I can't believe it."

Just start saying "Thank you...thank you...thank you...what a mighty God I serve!"
